Although units have cancelled campouts and weekend activities, that doesn’t mean Scouting has to stop. All families should participate in our spring camporee program by creating a campsite in your backyard.

- Camp in your backyard. Set up your tent and sleep over night.
- As a family, prepare one meal outdoors.
- Demonstrate a Scout skill you recently learned or use your Scout book to learn a new one (map and compass, pitching a tent, basic first aid, knot tying).
- Take a hike around your yard.
- Make a camp gadget (Tri-pod, table, flag pole).
- Submit photos of your camporee to smiley@samoset.org.

To count for camping nights and rank advancement, unit approval is required. Troops and packs should coordinate a date to allow for video chats during your event.
