

WILDERNESS AND REMOTE FIRST AID TRAINING

May 5-7, 2017: Hanna Venture Base, Rhinelander, WI

The American Red Cross Wilderness First Aid is a good, basic course in backcountry emergency response for those who live, work, or play in remote areas. The course is for anyone who participates in activities away from traditional EMS service – when there may be a significant delay in the notification of outside assistance, the time requires for definitive care to get to the victim, or moving the victim to more advanced treatment.

The course covers assessment and urgent first aid techniques, along with appropriate decision-making, making it appropriate for anyone regardless of experience level. This sixteen hour course relies upon a combination of classroom, skills practice, and outdoor rescue scenarios to teach the response steps and treatment of injuries and illnesses when definitive help is delayed.

This course will include CPR & first aid instruction for those who need it (additional cost does apply). It's recommended that participants have current CPR and First Aid certificates. Anyone who needs CPR should indicate this below.

Many of the activities will be outdoors – Dress for the weather. Also wear old clothing as the scenarios will be made to be as realistic as possible.

Cost: $90 for Wilderness First Aid; $35.00 for CPR & First Aid – This includes meals for the weekend.
